DOUBLE TRACK

Work to Begin at Once on C. and O's. Second Track to Lawrence Creek

The work of finishing the C. and O's double track from Maysville to Lawrence Creek, West, a distance of five miles, is to commence March 1st, and the rails will be laid by July 1st.

The grading and stone work for the five miles has been practically finished for the past two years, and it is an evidence of good times to know that the work is to be resumed and completed with a rush.

The Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Society will give a euchre Tuesday, February 23d, at Knights of St. John Hall. Admission 25 cents. Everybody invited.

COCHRAN FOR COLLECTOR

Maysville Man Said to be Slated to Succeed Sam J. Roberts at Lexington

A Louisville dispatch in Sunday's Enquirer says:—Friends of Will D. Cochran of Maysville, brother of Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran, say the Mason county man must accept an appointment under Mr. Taft.

They are booming him for Collector at Lexington to succeed Sam J. Roberts, and for District Attorney of the Eastern District.

Thus far Cochran has not evinced any willingness to accept any office.

Richard P. Ernst of Covington, David M. Fairleigh of Louisville, and other original Taft men are of the opinion that nothing is too good for the Ninth District man.

The position at Lexington is one of the choicest plums to be given out under the new Administration and pays a salary of $4,500.

Collector Roberts is serving his third term but will not be a candidate again for the office.

PETER L. PARKER.

The venerable Peter L. Parker died at 8 o'clock this morning at his home in East Second street, in the ninety-fourth year of his age.

Several weeks ago Mr. Parker sustained a fall at his home, which, in connection with the infirmities of his advanced years, resulted in his death.

Deceased was born near Orangeburg, and during his long and useful life in this community he held the very highest esteem of his fellow-citizens.

Surviving him are three sons—Messrs. John T., P. P. and J. E. Parker of this city. He leaves also one sister, Mrs. Martha McIlvain, and two brothers, William Parker of Rectorville and Stephen Parker of Lewisburg.

Mr. Parker had been a member of the First Baptist Church for more than fifty years, and was one of the faithful members of that congregation.

The funeral will take place from his late home at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning, with services by the Rev. Ross Arnold of the Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. W. W. Hall.

The interment will follow in the Maysville Cemetery.

THOMAS S. THOMSON.

News was received here last night informing relatives of the sudden death of Mr. Thomas S. Thomson, which occurred at 7 o'clock at the Denison Hotel, Cincinnati.

He left his home in Ripley yesterday morning for Cincinnati, whither he went for the purpose of consulting a specialist. He was taken ill shortly after his arrival and remained in a comatose state until death relieved him of his suffering.

Deceased was born in Lewis county and was in his 46th year. He formerly resided in this city and clerked in the Owens & Barkley shoe store. In late years he has been connected with the Kroger Grocery Company, Cincinnati. He leaves a widow and two daughters, two sisters and one brother, Mrs. H. L. Newell of this city, Mrs. M. M. Walker and Mr. Edward Walker of Rectorville, besides numerous other relatives in this city and elsewhere.

Funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence in Ripley, Ohio.

Interment in Maplewood Cemetery.

CAPTAIN DAVID L. WELLS.

Captain David L. Wells died at Murphysville, Mason county, on Monday, February 22d, 1909. He was born October 23d, 1823, and consequently was in his 86th year.

He lived a long, useful, upright life, and was honored and respected by all his neighbors and acquaintances. He loved his country and was patriotic and brave in war. He became Captain of Company G, Sixteenth Kentucky Infantry, on April 14th, 1862, and served in the Union Army, noted for his bravery and unhesitating gallantry on the skirmish line and in battle, and he was in many bloody engagements and was never known to shrink in the hour of peril. He was discharged from the military service August 8th, 1864, after enduring incredible hardships, and he returned to his home in Mason county, where he had since lived.

His widow, two daughters, one brother, Captain John E. Wells of this city, and seven grandchildren survive to mourn his death.

He was a grand man and a first class citizen in every sense.

His funeral will be held Wednesday at his late home at Murphysville at 11 o'clock a. m. Interment will be in Trinity Cemetery.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. Emma Duse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

Have Good Sweet Pea Seeds and Plant Them Early

Sweet Peas should be planted now just as soon as the ground can be gotten ready. This is one of the secrets of successful sweet pea culture. The other is use of good seed. Read both points and you'll be sure then of plenty of beautiful, large, fragrant blossoms — the kind which you have tried to raise, but have been disappointed from using old seeds of uncertain origin. FOR SELF PROTECTION

Maysville Merchants Will Form An Association For Collection of Accounts

The representatives of the Interstate Mercantile Agency are progressing rapidly with their work, and it is expected the meeting for organization will be held by the last of this week.

This Agency has organized Associations in many towns in Ohio and all report favorable results.

Any persons having accounts which should be settled will do well to call upon the merchants and see that they are settled or properly adjusted, as all the members of the Association will be furnished with the Z Rating List of this district, which will show just who have failed to pay their accounts and how much they owe. Only this class can object to this system, as it protects the honest and prompt-paying customer.

If any merchant is in doubt as to the standing of this Agency they have plenty of time to investigate from adjoining towns where they have organized Associations.

INJUNCTION DISSOLVED

An Opinion That is Far Reaching in Its Effect

The case of Hattie Conrad and others against the Cincinnati Gas Transportation Company, wherein an injunction was granted before Judge Harbison at Brookville, enjoining the Company from laying its pipes through the Day farm in this county, has been heard by the Court of Appeals, and an opinion handed down by Judge Barker, all the other Judges concurring, directing the Clerk of the Mason Circuit Court to set aside the order of injunction.

The opinion is a sweeping victory for the Company and far-reaching in its effect.

The Court said: "The life tenant may make any disposition of her estate in the land which does not amount to waste, without the permission of the remaindermen."

"I do not attach any importance to the affidavits in which the witnesses state that the burying of the gas pipes and the erection of poles for the telephone line would injure the remainder of the estate. While I have no doubt that the witnesses are honestly of the opinion that what they may state was true, after all it is a mere matter of opinion, and no reason or facts are given to substantiate them. Common knowledge refutes these opinions."

Messrs. J. G. Wadsworth and A. D. Cole represented the Company, and Mr. T. D. Slatery the Day heirs.

"America's Winter Playground."

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., February 18th, 1909.

If I hadn't promised a short sketch of Uncle Sam's oldest fort, I wouldn't attempt the job. To cover even a cursory history is an undertaking beyond my time and your space; so I'll make it brief as possible, incorporating the story as told by Ordnance Sergeant Brown, retired after a service of forty-two years, and now Custodian of Fort Marion.

"I'm Talking to You!"

This frowning old fortress, its bastions and curtains and parapets covered with the frost of ages, stands near the head of Matanzas Bay and within four hundred yards of where I'm writing this. It was begun by Menendez in 1565, coincident with his settlement of St. Augustine, but was not completed, however, until 1756. It is built on the plan of a trapezium, after the Vauban plan, and has four bastions, four curtains, twenty-six casemates, four dungeons, terreplein, parapet and rampart, corridor, banquet, superior slope, scarp and counter-scarp walls, connecting demilune and two half demilunes, covered way extending from counter-scarp to the glacis, except on water front, which has a water battery built by Uncle Sam in 1842; one watch tower, three sentry towers grenelled for riflemen, two drawbridges crossing the moat, and one portcullis. There are other things too numerous to mention; but these, I'm sure, will give your lay readers a very comprehensive idea of what I'm driving at.

The entrance to this thrice-named structure—San Juan de Pinas, San Marco and Fort Marion—is over a drawbridge to the ravelin and across a bridge to the portcullis.

On crossing the portcullis you pass through the massive door into the sallyport; on the right are two guard-rooms and a dungeon. This dungeon was evidently used for the confinement of prisoners for minor offenses. It was in this cell that Coacoochee and Talums Hadjo were confined. These Indians starved themselves for several days, until very much emaciated; they were transferred to the Courtroom with Osceola, where they made their escape through iron bars eight inches apart, running horizontally across the ventilator. Next to the door are three niches cut in the wall by Osceola to enable him to climb up and sit on the ledge of the window over the door looking into the quadrangle. The casemate to the left of the sallyport was the commandant's quarters, and had a small fireplace. The next casemate was for the staff and other officers of the garrison. The next was used for the same purpose, except when the Bishop came to Florida to visit his Diocese, when it was used for his quarters; as he came but seldom it was used for officers' quarters principally. The next casemate was the Courtroom, it has a raised platform for the officers composing the Court. On the next door is the last one of the original Spanish locks of very large dimensions, which was first locked, then a large bolt with a hasp closed the first keyhole and locked with a padlock; this door is strapped inside and out and bolted through the straps about five inches apart, so arranged that if the woodwork should be burned or cut away no one could get through the bars. The woodwork has been renewed; the lock and bars are original; the doors were thus constructed to all of the casemates. In the Northwest corner is the casemate that leads into the magazine; in this room is a niche very peculiarly shaped. For what purpose it was constructed no one can tell. There is a tradition that the first room was used for the Council. If the commandant wished to find out what action any member of that body took on any measures that he put before them, he could conceal himself in this niche in the magazine and find out what action each member of the Council had taken. There is a small aperture from the niche into the Council room, but not discernible from that room.

The next room of historical importance is the Chapel. In this is the niche for the patron saint, St. Augustine, and the altar. The adjoining rooms were used ordinarily for the dormitories, and the records of the colony, and for condemned prisoners to hear Mass before they were executed. At that time they could not bring a condemned prisoner into a Chapel; the moment he had a chance to kneel at the altar he could claim the right of sanctuary. In the wall near the spring of the arch is a part of the old timbers that crossed the room to support the platform for the choir; on the right are the old timbers where the confessional was fastened to the wall—a round circular place for the Priest and for the person to confess; next is a portion of the two fountains for holy water. Who can give the history of this Chapel? We know that some of the brightest, best and most patriotic Spanish Clergy have celebrated Mass within its walls. During the attacks and sieges of this fortress, when they have been driven from their Monastery, Church and Chapel, they gathered within these walls to minister, assist and console their flock. Can we estimate the value of the labor of this noble band of brothers during the long sieges, when the weeping mothers, wives, sisters and daughters were expecting every moment to have some one of the loved ones brought to them dead or wounded? They were not safe at the altar from the flying shot and bursting shell. Nor when celebrating Mass or giving the last sad rites to the dead were they secure from danger.

The next room of historical importance is the pennancarras. There were six crosses fastened to the wall on the right hand side of this room, and a large cross at the back with two large shrines, and two smaller shrines to the right and left of the large cross. This was used for the punishment of prisoners; they were chained under these crosses for punishment; the chains were attached to a bolt in the wall, it was fastened under the arms with cross chains over the shoulders, holding the prisoners in an upright position so they could neither sit nor lie down. There are two parallel lines at the spring of the arch with large half circles above and small circles below. At the entrance to this dungeon is a large circle with small circles centering on it; this entrance has been cut out at some time and then made narrower again; a small part of this wall has been broken away. The door was composed of three tiers of iron bars on broad iron plates; two tiers vertical and one tier horizontal intersecting every two inches.

This dungeon was evidently used for general prisoners. The room is thirty feet long on the West side, sixteen feet on the East side, seventeen on the South and twenty on the North, making part of a triangle. The entrance to the next room is through an aperture six feet high and two feet four inches wide. This room is five feet wide at the East end and seven at the West, and twenty feet long, fifteen feet high to the center of the arch. The next room it entered through an aperture thirty inches in height by three feet wide; this room is twenty feet in length, thirteen in width and seven feet high. These two rooms have been the wonder of thousands of people since they were first discovered in 1835. Some very curious legends have been related about them. Some historians claim that one was the magazine, others say that it was the place for the disposal of rubbish for the garrison.

The magazine was in the Northwest bastion. This is shown on a copy of the plan from the Spanish Government to the War Department. These two rooms were built to cover a secret entrance to the castle, and were evidently built for that purpose after several attempts had been made to build a gallery from this inner room to some point outside the castle. It was found to be impracticable. They had to sink a shaft nearly twenty feet to connect with a gallery under the moat. They found they could not drive the piling for the foundation of the gallery in the limited space they had to work in or keep the water from penetrating into the shaft and gallery. The work was abandoned. No one outside the officials and the troops of the garrison knew that the attempt was made to build a secret passageway from this inner room to the outside of the fort. After abandoning the work the entrance to the first secret room was walled up. It was evidently closed with a solid iron door on the outside, and walled up solid on the inside. There was a small concealed entrance from the terreplein into this room; it was by this giving away while they were moving one of the heavy cannon across this man-hole that these rooms were discovered in 1835, fourteen years after the Fort had been transferred to the United States. In this room were cross timbers and racks for the punishment of prisoners in extreme cases. There were two iron doors closing the entrance to the next room that opened in and out and could be opened only from the side where they were closed. It is in this room, tradition says, that two skeletons were found in iron cages bolted to the wall—the skeletons of a man and a woman. The evidences remaining are the two places in the wall where the cages were fastened. If they were confined there, what was it for? Who were they? What crime had they committed, if any?

It is probable that the crime committed was that of being in the way of some person of rank and power. If they had committed a crime against the laws of the land they could have been brought to trial and disposed of without the trouble of immuring them in these secret dungeons.

I am told by those who have been through all the noted dungeons in the Old World that there are none to equal these two rooms. Once confined within its gloomy walls death was certain within a few hours, without the least possible chance of escape. It was a strong rod to hold over people to threaten them with the acquaintance of these rooms, knowing that if they were sentenced by the Court, or inquisition, to be confined within their gloomy walls they would never more be heard of in this world. None but the officials knew what became of them. What a terror to evil-doers to threaten them with the acquaintance of these terrible dungeons!

The last room of historical importance is the room to the right under the arch, which was used for the hospital. There is a niche in this room on the left hand side as you go in, where, tradition says, there was found eighteen thousand dollars concealed. At the end, is a very peculiar niche, which is supposed to have been used for the dead until they were sent to their last resting place.

In the moat facing the Matanzas, to the right and left on the inner sides of the bastions, are a large number of bullet holes, which were made in the execution of prisoners.

No one that has not visited this old fortress can conceive what it is. One should sit within its casemates and listen to the screech of those peculiar birds that nest and hatch their young within its walls—the monkey-faced owl, one of the quaintest birds on this continent—and view the peculiar shadows cast on its gray and aged walls, or from its lofty watch-tower see the moon rising out of the broad Atlantic, casting a flood of light like burnished silver over the water. This is one of the few places on this continent that takes us back to the feudal ages. On this broad terreplein is one of the finest promenades in the United States. Who can say that this is not one of the most historical points in all our broad land?

Of course the old Fort is now dismantled, and is maintained by Uncle Sam simply as one of his most precious souvenirs. When garrisoned, its armament comprised one hundred guns and a thousand men. Its frowning battlements and sepulchral vaults will stand long after we and those of our day shall be numbered with the misty past of which it is a mute memorial. Of the legends connected with its dark chambers and prison vaults, the chains, the rack and wheel, the skeletonous walls in its secret recesses, there's much to say; but 'twere better to say it within its grim walls, where the eye and the imagination go hand in hand in weaving a web of mystery and awe over its sad associations to the solemn sound of grating bolts and clanking chains.

Hunt's Silk Sale opens tomorrow.

The World's Sunday-school Convention has been called to meet at Washington in 1910.

Lent—40 days of it—begins tomorrow. In anticipation the social season has come to an end; no weddings, theater parties and the usual slump in business.

Tomorrow the State National Bank and Mitchell, Finch & Co.'s Bank will begin paying out $170,000 to Mason county farmers on Tobacco Warehouse receipts.

News reaches here this morning from Ewing that William Throckmorton, formerly of this city, was called to his door at Fairview last night and shot by an assassin. He was married in this city last Thursday to Miss Elizabeth Schragga, one had just returned home from a bridal trip to Cincinnati. Blood bonds from this city were sent out this morning to trail the would-be murderer.

The County Democratic Convention to select delegates to attend the District Convention to be held in Brooksville tomorrow morning met at the Courthouse yesterday afternoon at the appointed hour. The meeting was called to order by Gordon Salsar, County Chairman, with M. Brown, Secretary, and on motion the temporary organization was made permanent. The proceedings were short and to the point. After calling reports from Precinct Chairmen, and all having responded, Hon. J. N. Kehoe offered a set of resolutions, which were promptly adopted, and on motion the Convention adjourned. All Democrats present were appointed delegates and instructed to vote as a unit for C. D. Newell for Circuit Judge, and while there were no instructions for Commonwealth's Attorney, it is tacitly understood the delegation will be for Hennessy.

The gauge marks 34 4 and falling.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which is Better—Try an Experiment or Profit by a Maysville Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented. The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.

But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had a bad back. A Lame, Weak or Aching one. Would you experiment on it?

You will read of many so-called cures. Endorsed by strangers from far-away places. It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony. Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read this case:

J. M. Lloyd, farmer, R. F. D. No. 5, Maysville, Ky., says: "I am only too pleased to tell of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills and hope that it will be the means of helping some other sufferers from kidney trouble in finding relief. About five years ago my kidneys suddenly became disordered and for several months I was bothered by constant, dull pains across my loins. When I stooped or lifted, sharp twinges shot through my body and caused the most intense suffering. I at length heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured a box at J. J. Wood & Son's Drugstore and began using them. They effected a complete cure, and since then I have not had backache or any other symptom of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
